MacArthur Orders Hongkong Japs To Surrender to British Admiral

Nips Push Disarming For Entry

Russians To Drop On Hokkaido, Tokyo Glooms to MacArthur

MANILA, Saturday, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Japan's vast armies were disarming at home and abroad today ahead of next week's occupation of the homeland, which Gen. MacArthur disclosed would begin tomorrow with air-borne landings 18 miles from the heart of Tokyo.

Imperial headquarters charged in a message to MacArthur that the Russians were planning their own private and imminent occupation landing in the northernmost home island of Hokkaido, a move which it asserted would be "regretted" by the Japanese government.

A 16-man Russian delegation to participate in the Japanese surrender ceremonies arrived at Manila by air this morning. The fact that they came here instead of arranging a shorter flight to the Tokyo area after MacArthur has taken over there indicated they planned to confer with the supreme commander. Their identities were not available.

The Red Army has freed 1,670 Allied war prisoners, including 28 generals, "in the area of Mukden," and has extended its grip in Korea, Manchuria and Sakhalin island, the Moscow communique said last night.

WAINWRIGHT FREE

Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, has been held by the Japanese at Sian, 100 miles northeast of Mukden, and an American plane is standing by at Mukden to bring him to Chungking.

The Russian communique did not list the names of the men liberated.

A spokesman made it clear that MacArthur intended to arrive on schedule with heavily-armed forces next Tuesday, despite the threat of a second typhoon such as the one that wrecked Tokyo's communications Wednesday and turned the main landing field near Tokyo into a morass.

This was emphasized by clock-like advance preparations and new orders from MacArthur telling Japanese airmen to keep out of the skies south of the main island of Honshu today and over a broad area around Tokyo tomorrow lest they run afoul of the Allied fleet.

PLANES GROUNDED

No plane of Japan was allowed to stray more than two miles from shore beginning today, and tomorrow—when the first force of airborne trained technicians land near Tokyo—none can fly in a zone of about 90 square miles centering around the ruined capital.

This appeared to be an alert against any act of treachery by suicide pilots up to the time the articles of surrender are signed on the battleship Missouri Aug. 31 in Tokyo bay.

Without Allied confirmation, Tokyo said that a day after the surrender, strong Allied forces would begin landing on the southernmost island of Kyushu, with seaborne troops swarming ashore there Sept. 2.

An imperial headquarters and government joint communique said that armed Japanese forces would be withdrawn from the occupation zones "to avoid complications." Those in the area around

OPA EASES TIRE OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP)—Tire dealers will be allowed to build up their inventories to a limited extent beginning Sept. 1, the OPA announced tonight.

This is being done, the agency said, to clear the way for dealers to speed delivery of new tires to consumers as rapidly as they are produced.

While it did not say so, the building up of dealers' stocks is regarded as a prerequisite to the ending of tire rationing.

War Work Banned to Girls, 16, 17

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The government wiped out its emergency order permitting 16 and 17-year-old girls to take jobs on war contracts today as the AFL and CIO intensified back-to-school drivers for teen-agers.

Both big labor organizations, looking to the future, urged youths to drop their tools and pick up the school books tossed away when war jobs and wartime pay beckoned.

Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach revoked as of Sept. 4 the wartime order of former Secretary Frances Perkins which dropped the age limit on government contracts under the Walsh-Healey act from 18 to 16 years. Miss Perkins herself had revoked the order effective next month, but due to the sudden end of the war Schwellenbach moved up the date.

Those girls 16 and 17 years old who are working on government contracts made prior to Sept. 4, however, may continue if they desire.

"Congress having decreed there is no proper place for child labor in American industry, with which the Department of Labor wholeheartedly agrees, it clearly is the time now to restore those restrictions and fulfill the intent of congress," Schwellenbach said in a statement.

He added that the order had been issued by Miss Perkins "when increased production was vital to the progress of the war in 1942."

CIO Pres. Philip Murray and AFL Pres. William Green have cautioned teen-agers not to sacrifice educational opportunities for the weekly pay envelope.

Would Spare 'Psychos'

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 24.—(AP). A parole system to spare war veterans who suffer mental "blackouts" the penalty of jail terms for minor infractions of the law, was advocated here today by City Recorder Harold Moore.

Communist Chief Again Summoned

Rival Chinese Forces Claim Seizure of Mongol Province Hub

CHUNGKING, Saturday, Aug. 25—(UP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek said today China was unwilling to send troops to accept the surrender of Britain's Hongkong colony lest Allied misunderstandings develop. At the same time, it was disclosed he had made a new move to settle the central government-Communist rivalry complicating the surrender procedure in China.

The generalissimo, addressing the National Supreme Defense Council and the central executive committee, said he hoped China and Britain could reach a rational settlement on the question of Hongkong through legal procedure. Chiang also said China must recognize the independence of Outer Mongolia. It was disclosed the bodies ratified the new Chinese-Russia treaty.

The Bern radio said the new friendship treaty provided for Russian recognition of "Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria."

REPORT U. S. ORDER

Chiang's address came as plans were announced for dispatching Chinese troops to four principal cities due for recovery from the Japanese on Aug. 26, date set for Allied landings in Japan. The plans mentioned Nanking, Shanghai, Hankow and Peiping but not Hongkong.

BBC in London said the Manila radio sent instructions from Gen. MacArthur to Tokyo, saying that Japanese forces in Hongkong are to surrender to Rear Adm. C. H. J. Harcourt of the royal navy at an unspecified time after Aug. 31.

Before Chiang's speech was announced, it was believed here that initial occupation of Hongkong would be carried out by Chinese under Gen. Chang Fah Kwei and the American-trained First Chinese Amy.

CHIANG SAYS HURRY UP

Chiang also has sent a new invitation by telegraph to Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-Tung inviting him to a conference in Chungking on the problems confronting the central government and Communists alike, it was disclosed here.

The message said there are "many important problems and I must talk to you in person for their speedy settlement."

"On our talks depend our nation's future. I have prepared a plane to take you here. Please hasten."

Mao disclosed yesterday he was sending a representative, Chow

Crowley Stands Pat On Lend-Lease End

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Britain's official complaint over sudden termination of lend-lease brought a prompt reply from Foreign Economic Administrator Leo Crowley today that "responsible British officials must have recognized" that such shipments would end on V-J Day.

Within a few hours after Prime Minister Attlee told the house of commons Britain was in a "very serious financial position" because of the United States action, Crowley recalled his public warnings that lend-lease was strictly a wartime operation.

He referred a reporter to his testimony last month before the Senate Banking Committee.

"I had no discretion under the law and under the promises made to congress and the American people who have appropriated $40,000,000,000 for this program," Crowley said in an interview.

"The late President Roosevelt, Mr. Truman, as vice president and president, and myself, repeatedly stated that lend-lease could not be used for postwar rehabilitation and reconstruction," he added.

If that promise had been broken, it might have "jeopardized the whole authority we would need to have" if the United States was to use her financial resources to help liberated nations in the postwar period, he said.

Obviously vexed at the British attitude, the white-thatched economic administrator added:

"The question was not of a sudden end to lend-lease but of a sudden ending to the Japanese war."

Crowley labeled as "impossible" any British expectation that the United States would continue lend-lease shipments to Britain after Japan's surrender until some new type agreement took its place.

Since lend-lease sprang from congressional action, he said, any such new measure would require congressional approval also and would have "taken weeks and perhaps months" of negotiation.

Foreseeing the impact that cessation of lend-lease would have on war-wrecked nations, he said congress had included provisions within the law itself to help nations absorb the shock.

He mentioned specifically a clause which would allow nations, including Britain, to continue receiving goods contracted for under lend-lease after V-J Day if they promised to pay for them within 30 years at 2 3-8 per cent interest.

Crowley indicated that several European nations were utilizing these privileges and said an announcement on completed agreements might be forthcoming "in a couple of days."

Facilities of the Export-Import Bank have been made available, he said, to provide Britain with dollars to purchase emergency supplies and to allow her more time to map her postwar aims.

Other acts by the United States to cushion the economic shock resulting from a halt to lend-lease, Crowley said were:

1. Extension of the termination date to the day officially designated as V-J Day by President Truman.

2. Announcement that all lend-lease goods contracted for, stockpiled, or "even in the process of manufacture" will be shipped if satisfactory credit arrangements are worked out.

3. Instructions to FEA to maintain its procurement machinery intact to aid nations asking for assistance after credit arrangements are worked out.

Labor Shortage in Brick Industry Hampers South's Building Boom

By BILL BORING.

In one of the most critical hours for building in the southeast's history, two-thirds of the section's brick and tile manufacturing plants are completely shut down and those in operation are producing only on a 40 per cent basis because of a labor shortage.

This serious situation has resulted because the industry, under the present government-imposed price ceilings for its products, cannot compete in the present labor market.

Under the government's ceiling price for brick and tile, the industry can afford to pay only 45 cents per hour—not enough to attract necessary workers.

The industry is petitioning the War Production Board for a price readjustment sufficient to allow it to pay whatever the competitive wage market demands.

The shut-down, according to Chadwick N. Heath, general secretary of the Southern Brick & Tile Manufacturers' Association, is seriously threatening, and already has delayed by months, Georgia's immense industrial building program as well as that for the entire south.

Heath says it also is doing the following damage to the state's reconversion program:

Delaying the start of construction of 500,000 needed homes in the state.

Holding up the construction of some 1,000 school buildings (not a single school building, except in emergency cases, has been built in Georgia in the past three years).

Frustrating hospital building plans in countless scores of small towns as well as cities.

Throwing into confusion the plans of hundreds of prospective small industrial operators.

Seriously retarding needed farm improvements. As an example of this, Heath said that a large part of this year's tobacco crop was lost in the fields because the farmers could not get the brick to repair and build new curing house chimneys.

Heath said that of the southeast's 180 producers of brick and structural clay tile, 120 are now closed and the 60 in operation are producing on only a 40 per cent capacity.

Reason for this critical situation is that the small plants of the south were closed during the war because of the squeeze between high production costs and low ceiling prices.

This came about after the plants had built a tremendous war em-

LOW PRICE LEVELS BRING PROTESTS, RELIEF PLEA FROM UNDERWEAR MEN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Manufacturers of lightweight underwear demanded immediate price relief today, and said some mills will have to close down unless they get it.

Roy Cheney, president of the Underwear Institute, said in an interview that OPA had advised the manufacturers that higher prices could not be granted unless they are approved by Economic Stabilizer William H. Davis.

Unless increased ceiling prices are granted immediately, Cheney said, "quite a number of plants" making lightweight underwear—men's shorts and shirts, women's panties, etc.—will have to close, thus further decreasing available supplies to civilians.

Let Police, Grand Jury Act With Celerity

H. J. Cates, chief of Atlanta's sanitary department, is quoted as saying that Negro helpers on the garbage trucks, now idle because of a driver's strike, were visited at their homes Thursday night and told their lives and homes would be endangered if they went out with new drivers.

Thus, "friends" of these men have committed a criminal act. The Fulton county grand jury must act with the full co-operation of every peace officer in the state.

An aroused public will not tolerate gangsterism, if volunteers have to ride garbage trucks with arms. The answer to this terrorism on the part of the drivers of garbage trucks, on strike despite their pledged word not to strike after receiving a raise in January, must be complete support by the public of the city administration, which declares it will not compromise this issue.

These men picked the time to strike when infantile paralysis and other diseases are at their peak. It is the fifth consecutive summer they have done so. Now they have resorted to death threats and promises of violence if the trucks move.

These men have forfeited any right ever again to work in this city.

Let the people answer these men who promise murder to new drivers and helpers if the trucks roll.

Let their bluff be called.

Let the grand jury and police act with as much celerity as possible.

30,000—TOLL STILL RISING

Death Swings Delayed Sickle In Wake of Hiroshima's A-Bomb

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Tokyo broadcasts declared yesterday that "radioactivity" and burns from the atomic bomb at Hiroshima claimed the lives of 30,000 persons within two weeks after the bomb was dropped, and that some burn victims asked to be killed to end their pain.

The delayed deaths raised the toll of dead to 60,000, and the toll still is mounting, Tokyo said.

The broadcasts, perhaps intended to arouse sympathy, also declared that persons entering the area as much as a week later became ill, but did not say specifically that any of these persons had died.

An American atomic bomb expert on Aug. 8, however, said there was no reason to believe there was any appreciable radioactivity on the ground at Hiroshima, or that its effects lingered.

The skin of persons near the blast turned bright red from burns, one broadcast said, and the majority of injuries came from these burns. One Tokyo reporter was quoted as saying that many patients, in pain, shouted "Please kill me, quick!"

"The spectre of death hangs over the remaining citizens of Hiroshima," said one broadcast recorded by the Associated Press.

"Radioactivity caused by the fission of uranium used in the atomic bomb is taking a toll of mounting deaths and, moreover, is causing persons engaged in reconstruction work in Hiroshima to suffer from various sicknesses and ill health," it said.

"In an investigation made three days after the atomic bomb hit Hiroshima, it was reported there were 30,000 dead and 160,000 injured, out of a total population of 250,000.

"Two weeks afterwards the death toll had mounted to 60,000 and is continuing to rise. The majority of the injured persons received burns from powerful ultraviolet rays from the atomic bombs."

Ultraviolet rays are given off by anything that is burning, any fire. Very intense heat gives off a lot of ultraviolet. Radioactivity includes not only the familiar X-rays from radium, and alpha particles, but neutrons which are far more penetrating than any other kind of atomic ray. Neutrons destroy white blood cells.

Another broadcast, quoting a correspondent of the Tokyo "Asahi Shimbun," and recorded by the FCC, said the death toll also was rising at Nagasaki, hit by a second atomic bomb. This correspondent said the total number of dead at Hiroshima "is estimated at present at 70,000 to 80,000," while at Nagasaki 13,000 were killed and more than 10,000 are missing.

The Tokyo broadcast describing radioactivity at Hiroshima said that persons "within a two-kilometer radius from the center of the bomb explosion (300 meters south of the patriotic shrine) received burns two to three times."

ELECTRIC GADGET TO TEST HUMIDITY ROBS ERRANT WEATHERMAN OF ALIBI

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—No more can the errant weatherman come home with a blonde hair on his collar and glibly explain to his wife:

"Why, honey, I thought you knew! We use those down at the office for testing humidity."

The Commerce Department disclosed today that blonde hairs are passe and that an electrical gadget does the work.

Up until this year blonde hairs were greatly in demand for use in transmitting weather signals from the upper air. Blonde hairs are more sensitive to humidity changes than those of redheads and brunettes. But science has found that fine wires, doctored up with resin and acetate do a better detecting job.

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE?

Auto Industry Given Go Sign On Output of Passenger Cars

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The automobile industry was put on its own today to make cars for civilians as fast as it can.

All production limitations went out the window.

In taking this action, the War Production Board steered clear of any predictions as to how soon how many cars will be available.

It all depends, the agency said, upon the capacity of the industry.

Production of passenger cars was halted Feb. 1, 1942, to put the industry's vast facilities to work on munitions.

In June this year, after Germany's defeat, the WPB authorized resumption of limited production in the last half of 1945 under a quota system. Each company had a specific allotment, with the aggregate output limited to about 250,000.

As it shifts from war production to passenger cars, the automobile industry faces some materials shortages. One of the most acute is tin. The industry, however, has expressed a willingness to use substitutes wherever necessary in order to get rolling again.

For the time being, new cars will not be equipped with spare tires. Decision as to when a fifth tire will be allowed was left with the Office of Price Administration, which has jurisdiction over tire rationing.

But it probably won't be long until cars leave the factory with an extra tire. The OPA has started a survey to determine exactly how soon, but the tire situation for civilians is looking up, now that military demands have been slashed.

A decision may be announced next week by the OPA concerning ceiling prices for new cars. All indications point to somewhat higher prices than for 1942 models, the last made. Without shedding much light on this question, Price Administrator Bowles has denied published reports that the increases might be as much as 14 per cent.

New cars will be rationed along the wartime pattern which limited certificates to the most essential users. Rationing, however, is not expected to last very long. It may be dropped entirely when production reaches 100,000 a month.

Production restrictions on taxicabs, ambulances and hearses also were lifted today.

Restrictions on truck production recently were abolished.

No Picnic Day, Says Weatherman

This will be no day for picnics or an afternoon swim. The weatherman has promised Atlanta and its surrounding area more cloudy skies, warm and humid weather. There may be scattered showers and thunderstorms during the afternoon. The temperature will remain between 70 and 87 degrees.

Yesterday the morning low of 70 was followed by an afternoon high of 85.

Garbage Loaders Given Death Threats

Despite veiled threats of death, which scared 150 Negro garbage loaders off trucks driven by men hired to replace striking drivers of the sanitary department, city administration leaders have what they call a "foothold" in their efforts to move mounting piles of refuse and half a dozen trucks have hauled 30 tons to the city incinerator, the first movement in three days.

H. J. Cates, sanitary department chief, said 25 drivers reported for work yesterday morning and that enough to man every one of the 44 trucks operated by the sanitary division will be on hand this morning, but a new hitch developed when Negro garbage loaders declined to go out with the new drivers.

He said he had been informed that the Negroes had been visited by white men who threatened with death any Negro who worked with the new drivers.

"I tried to get some identification of the men who made the threats, but only one driver could give any description at all, and he said the men who talked to him was a tall, slim man and wore a blue suit," Cates said. "I am confident the Negroes would have worked if there had been no intimidation."

GIVE PROTECTION

Following a conference with Cates, Hartsfield announced that every measure possible will be taken to protect the Negroes who want to work. He added every facility of the city will be made available if the need arises.

Every one of the 113 drivers of city equipment who struck and refused to resume work have been dismissed from city employment, and all those on the trucks yesterday were newly employed workers. More than 50 per cent of the new men are war veterans, it was said.

The health department is the only one of the four against which the strike was leveled which will have a full complement of men beginning Monday. Five of the nine drivers for that division refused to quit their jobs, and yesterday the four whose places had been declared vacant were recommended for reinstatement by Dr. James F. Hackney, health department director, and the recommendation was approved by the city personnel board. They are slated to resume their duties Monday, and similar petitions are expected from other departments.

Cates warned that the movement yesterday was only a scratch on the surface of rapidly accumulating garbage. He estimated that approximately 1,000 tons are in cans throughout the city, exclusive of scores of tons which merchants and others are taking voluntarily to the incinerator. He was encouraged by the fact that six trucks were able to operate during the day and said he believes they all can be placed in operation by next week.

GARBAGE PILES UP

Even if normal collections are resumed by the first of next week, it will take another month to absorb the accumulation and re-establish the restricted collections which the city was able to maintain during the war years, he warned.

While Hartsfield branded the strike as "political blackmail," Lee Hammond, business agent for Local 450, Chauffers and Teamsters Union, issued a statement asserting that the walkout was not politically inspired and that it was voted as "strictly union business."

Hammond and Frank Prohl, international representative of the union, asked Hartsfield to call a special meeting of council to consider the strikers' demands for a $1-a-day bonus above their present payments, which amount to $6.43 daily, but Hartsfield refused.

Cates said he expects some of the Negro loaders back on their jobs this morning, and said if enough fail to report to man the trucks, his men will hire others.

It developed yesterday that if a city department head wishes to reinstate a dismissed employe, he may do so with the approval of the city personnel board, but such reinstated worker would lose all seniority rights.

This, however, opens the door for re-employment of ousted truck drivers and any Negroes who may be fired, if they should adopt a willing and co-operative attitude.

BRICKS

pire in the south—the industrial plants which turned out planes and other war equipment, the barracks which housed troops, the schools which trained fliers, soldiers.

The industry, a low wage industry, built these war concerns and, then, as the industrial war plants began to produce, they enticed away the brick plant's low-waged laborers.

WAGES LOW

The industry's present wage scale is 45 cents an hour. This is based on the OPA's price ceiling in the south of $15 per thousand for brick as against $22 per thousand in the north. At this price, according to Heath, the southern industry cannot meet the competitive wage scale.

Heath has dispatched a telegram to Joseph Keenan, vice chairman of the War Production Board, outlining the industry's plight and informing him that "any delay in granting increased ceiling prices will delay opening of the plants and further retard the production of brick and structural tile."

Heath said that already the section's industrial, public works and home building program has been delayed by months and if the price increases were granted today, bringing about renewed production, it would "be sometime in 1946 before the southeastern plants could begin turning out their brick and tile on any considerable scale.

MACHINERY NEEDED

Machinery will have to be repaired or replaced, kilns will have to be rebuilt, trucks and handling equipment will have to be renewed. And labor will have to be recruited and trained.

Heath said that already he has been approached by General Motors relative to brick and tile supplies for the company's huge plant at Doraville, but that he could give them no definite word on when they could supply the needs.

"The entire building industry in the southeast is suffering," Heath wired Keenan, "because even the smallest one-room shack must have at least a brick chimney. The huge General Motors plant, Ford Motor plant and DuPont plant, and hundreds of other projects cannot advance unless they are supplied with brick and tile."

He said that the industry's stocks are at zero with the present production sold out until January and February, 1946.

GOVERNMENT COMPETITION

Heath said that under the present government regulations affecting the southeastern brick and tile industry, the government is the industry's biggest competitor. Displaced war workers, guaranteed compensations of $25 weekly for 26 weeks turn their noses up at 45 cents an hour work in brick plants. "They can make $5 a week more by fishing on the Chattahoochee," declares Heath.

Heath's telegram to Keenan follows:

"Joseph Keenan, vice chairman,
"War Production Board,
Washington, D. C.:

"Production of brick and structural clay tile in the southeastern states cannot be increased without a substantial increase in ceiling prices. There are 180 plants in this region, of which 120 are closed and 60 operating at about 40 per cent capacity. The 60 operating plants require common labor. We are in a low pay industry with minimum wages at 45 cents.

"Labor will not work in our industry until this scale is competitive in the labor market. An adjustment upward would be shared with labor. This is the only solution for the 60 plants that are in operation. Maximum production of these 60 plants will not alleviate the critical shortage of brick and tile.

MUST OPEN PLANTS

"It is imperative that the 120 closed plants be opened. These are small plants which closed during the war because of the squeeze between high production costs and low ceilings prices. Management of these closed plants must see a profit incentive before they can open. An increase of ceiling prices is the only incentive these producers can understand.

"If an increase were granted today it would be 1946 before these plants could start producing. Machinery will have to be repaired or replaced. Kilns will have to be rebuilt. Trucks and handling equipment will have to be renewed. Any delay in granting increased ceiling prices will delay this opening process and further retard the production of brick and structural clay tile.

"The entire building industry in the southeast will suffer because even the smallest one-room shack must have at least a brick chimney. The huge General Motors plant, Ford motor plant, DuPont's plant cannot advance unless they are supplied with brick and tile. Do not overlook the fact that stocks in the southeast are zero and that present production is sold out until January and February, 1946.

"Increased production of clay products cannot be accomplished without a substantial increase in ceiling prices.

"CHADWICK N. HEATH,
"Southern Brick & Tile Manufacturers' Association."

Marschner Draws 3-Year Sentence

Gerard Joseph Marschner, 23, of Decatur, was sentenced to three years by Judge Robert L. Russell yesterday on six counts of transporting stolen automobiles in interstate commerce.

Marschner, alias Louis Kirby, entered a plea of guilty on charges of transporting stolen vehicles from several southeastern cities to Atlanta, Marietta and Chicago.

"WE OF GEORGIA KNEW HIM, TOO"—Gov. Ellis Arnall, one of the three notables paying tribute to the late President Roosevelt at the ceremony before the Little White House for the issuance of the new two-cent Roosevelt memorial stamp, speaks to the patients of the Warm Springs Foundation. On the platform with him are Postmaster General Hannegan and Basil O'Connor, of National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis.

WARM SPRINGS CEREMONY

FDR Stamp's Issuance Evokes Eloquent Talks

By TINA RANSOM
Constitution Staff Writer.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Aug. 24.—The overpowering personality of the one no longer present lingered on to dominate the minds and hearts of all who attended the ceremony here today acclaiming the issuance of the new two-cent Roosevelt Memorial stamp.

It was Roosevelt, the humanitarian, who was honored by three men who, as much as any living individuals, have drawn their inspiration, both political and human, from the late President. They are Postmaster Gen. Robert E. Hannegan, Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and Gov. Arnall, of Georgia.

Set aside, for the moment, were any political implications.

Taking time off from their heavily loaded schedules, these three men of public life journeyed to the Little White House to join with patients of the Warm Springs Foundation in paying tribute to the man whom they, the patients, will always remember as their best friend.

PATIENTS ATTEND

At 10:30 a. m. buses began transporting all the patients who were able to go from the Foundation to the Little White House, where, seated before the speakers' platform, they witnessed the program which was broadcast over a national hookup from 12:30 to 12:45 p. m.

Striking the keynote of the ceremony was Postmaster Gen. Hannegan, who, introduced by Mayor Frank Allcorn, master of ceremonies, turned his full attention on the patients before him as he said:

"It is most fitting that we choose Warm Springs as the place to pay this tribute to Franklin D. Roosevelt. It is a tribute to his desire to help the afflicted, to bring hope to those faced with loss and despair—to help them lead useful lives.

"As you know, the Post Office Department is issuing a series of four memorial stamps for the late President. The first, known as the White House stamp, symbolized Roosevelt as President. The second, called the Hyde Park stamp, was a tribute to Roosevelt the citizen.

"SOUGHT A SYMBOL"

"Today's issue, the Warm Springs stamp, honors Roosevelt the humanitarian. . . .

"We sought a symbol—and Warm Springs seemed best to express the man's great quality of mercy. . . .

"And so I am happy as Postmaster General to place in the hands of a dear, personal friend of the late President, Georgia's progressive Governor who is so devoted to Roosevelt's principles, this first sheet of stamps which have been issued in tribute to Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Accepting the sheet of stamps, Gov. Arnall stepped before the microphone and said, in part:

"There is something altogether homely and naive and American in the manner in which we pay tribute to our greatest men; not in bronze and marble nor arches of triumph, but with a postage stamp. . . .

GEORGIA KNEW HIM

"Mr. O'Connor . . . you knew him (Roosevelt) for so many years as the Squire of Hyde Park, as President of the United States, and as a friend. But we of Georgia knew him, too. We knew the farmer of Warm Springs. . . .

"I now sell this first issue of stamps to 'Doc' O'Connor, the late President's close friend."

With the stamps in hand, Mr. O'Connor spoke low, resonantly and with deep affection of his former law partner who brought him to what developed into his life's work — the Infantile Paralysis Foundation.

"I cannot stand here today, just outside the entrance to the Little White House, and not have memories of very happy, exciting days and great events, memories of a great inspirational force, memories of a great soul. . . .

STAMP'S MISSION

"When this stamp representing the Little White House, which I have purchased today, travels over this country, it will make some think of President Roosevelt's statesmanship; it will make others think of his grasp of international affairs; but it will remind all people of his love for the common man.

"It was here in this Little House that I saw him for the last time—12 days before he died. Here in the shadow of approaching death he was still smiling, and he left a smile here for us—nothing could conquer him!"

After the ceremony, O'Connor, Gov. Arnall, and Postmaster Gen. Hannegan passed out copies of the new stamp to patients assembled on the campus in the Columbian Colonnade.

Before going on the air, the program began with a concert by the 267th Army Ground Forces Band, led by CWO Morris R. Poummit, of Fort Benning. Mrs. Willie B. Persons, postmistress of Warm Springs, said a few words of appreciation for the issuance of the stamp honoring Warm Springs.

GEN. HOBSON SPEAKS

Mayor Allcorn then introduced Brig. Gen. W. H. Hobson, commanding general of Fort Benning, whose address was followed by short talks from Joseph J. Lawler, third assistant postmaster general; Rep. Robert Ramspeck, of the Fifth district; Rep. Sidney Camp, Fourth district, and Rep. Malcolm C. Tarver, Seventh district.

More than 400,000 covers with the new memorial stamp were sent out from Warm Springs to all parts of the United States and to every country in the world.

CHINA

En-Lai, to Chungking to see Chiang for "national unity."

Apparently, however, Chiang thought that the conference demanded the presence, not of a representative, but of Mao himself.

The Communists of north China do not afford allegiance to the central Chungking government, and when the first Japanese surrender announcement was made by Tokyo Chiang demanded that Communist Leader Gen. Chu Teh refuse to accept the surrenders of Japanese arms or troops unless authorized by Chungking to take them.

The Communists replied that they did not intend to abide by those orders. Latest reports from north China were that both Communist and central government armies had seized a number of strategic towns in north China.

Communist and Chungking armies were reported converging on Tsinan at the base of the Shantung peninsula, 250 miles south of Peiping.

As Chinese armies moved into former Japanese-held cities, Ta Kung Pao, leading Chungking daily, demanded that Macao, Portuguese colony 35 miles west of Hongkong, be returned to China.

Macao, oldest European outpost in China, was established in 1557, and in 1887 China recognized Portugal's claim to the one-by-three-mile peninsula 70 miles south southwest of Canton. The peninsula, with its important seaport, has a population of 157,175.

Ta Kung Pao said that Macao under Portuguese rule is a spot of "corruption, gambling, all kinds of immoralities and the hideout of criminals," and said "it is most regrettable if the United Nations still allow greediness, ignoring the Atlantic Charter."

Georgia-Florida Rail Workers Back

AUGUSTA, Ga., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Operating personnel of the Georgia-Florida railroad, who struck Aug. 7 for standard wages, went back to work tonight, saying an agreement had been reached and all matters had been adjusted.

Neither officials of the local brotherhood nor management would comment on the settlements.

H. W. Purvis, general manager of the line said: "We have reached a satisfactory agreement. All matters have been adjusted and the men have returned to work."

A-BOMB TOLL

ond and third-degree burns.

"Those within three to four kilometers radius of the bomb received burns to the extent that their skin turned bright red but as these burns were caused by ultraviolet rays they hardly felt the heat at that time. Two hours later, however, blisters formed resulting in dropsy.

"Although abundant medical supplies were rushed to the scene of disaster and treatment was unsparingly given to the victims, the death list continued to grow daily.

"It is recalled following the atomic bomb raid on Hiroshima that an American radio broadcast said Hiroshima had been turned into a place where all living creatures cannot exist for 75 years. It added that to send scientists to investigate the damage caused by the atomic bomb would be suicidal."

On Aug. 8, the War Department denied published reports that areas devastated by the atomic bomb would continue to react for years with death-dealing radioactivity. Its statement quoted Dr. J. R. Oppenheimer, head of that phase of the atomic research, as saying "there is every reason to believe that there was no appreciable radioactivity on the grounds at Hiroshima and what little there was decayed very rapidly."

"The fact that uranium had deeply penetrated into the ground," the Tokyo broadcast continued, "has been easily ascertained by using a Geiger-Mueller special calculation meter and it has been disclosed that the uranium used in the atomic bomb is harmful to human bodies and is causing an increasing number of deaths.

"Examination of 33 servicemen, of whom 10 had received burns in reconstruction projects one week after the bombing took place, showed those with burns had 3,150 white corpuscles and others who were apparently healthy had 3,800. Compared to the ordinary healthy person who has 7,000 to 8,000 white corpuscles, this is a drastic decrease.

"On the other hand, servicemen with burns had only 3,065,900 red corpuscles and others apparently healthy had 3,094,000, which when compared to the 4,500,000 to 5,000,000 red corpuscles of the ordinary healthy person again is an extreme shortage.

"This shows that no one can completely recover from the injuries sustained by the atomic bomb as long as he stays in (few words missing) he will be subjected to headaches, fainting spells lack of appetite, parched throat, weariness, constipation and other illnesses, it has been found.

"The radioactivity of uranium has thus truly dealt a major blow against Hiroshima's hopes for post-war reconstruction and rehabilitation."

Admissions Halted To V-7 Courses

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Navy today cancelled all further admissions to the Naval Reserve midshipmen's program (V-7), effective immediately.

Some 5,000 midshipmen now in training as prospective deck and engineering officers will complete their courses.

When the V-7 program marked its fifth anniversary last month, more than 60,000 seagoing reserve officers had received training. One in every five Naval officers today is a graduate of the program. Deck and engineering officer candidates were trained in units at Northwestern University, Chicago, and Plattsburg, N. Y., in addition to the five now in commission.

United Action On Venereal Inroads Here

In an effort to cope with the serious problem of venereal disease in this state, the Georgia Citizens' Council, meeting at the Piedmont hotel, has recommended to the Governor the appointment of a full-time employe to spearhead an attack upon this problem by co-ordinating the work of all county, city and state agencies charged with any phase of the problem.

The council, which held its meeting yesterday, decided on an extensive publicity campaign as the first step toward a solution of the problem. In that campaign it will use newspapers, posters and motion pictures to acquaint people of Georgia with the social danger that now confronts them. The newly elected official will have charge of that campaign.

According to the council, selective service rejections in Georgia, based upon the first million persons examined, were 10 per cent higher than the national average. In that respect, Georgia was the second highest in the nation for white men and the seventh highest for Negroes. In addition, the figures show that 10 per cent of the prison population of Georgia consists of boys and girls from 12 to 18 years of age.

This situation, according to the council, results largely from the high syphilis rate in this state. Out of the first 2,000,000 men examined, the records show that 39 white Georgians out of every thousand had syphilis. The same record shows that the rate among Negroes in Georgia was 372.6 per thousand. Among white men in Georgia, the rate was twice as high as in the northern and western states and four times as high as in New England.

Official figures showing the combined syphilis rate (whites and Negroes), for Georgia cities are: Atlanta, 187.3 per cent; Savannah, 288.9 per cent; Macon, 296.2 per cent; Augusta, 214 per cent; Columbus, 221.9 per cent; Albany, 281.6 per cent; Griffin, 219.4 per cent. For cities of comparable population in the north, the rate ranges from 7 to 10 per cent.

Charts produced at the meeting showed that syphilis has become a national scourge. From Pearl Harbor up to August 29, 1944, when Americans and their Allies had liberated practically all of France, the number of Americans killed in action were 87,000. During the same period, it is said that syphilis killed 282,000 Americans.

The council directed its social protection division to co-operate with the official whom the Governor designates to have charge of this anti-syphilis campaign in Georgia. Members of the social protection division are: Lt. Col. Parks Hunt, Albany; William A. Watts, Thomasville; Mrs. Ralph Butler, Dallas; Morgan Blake, Atlanta, and Wilmar D. Lanier, Augusta.

Mrs. Ralph A. Long, of Atlanta, chairman of the youth division of the council, announced the following appointments: Pre-school section, Mrs. Helen B. Quattlebaum, of Savannah, chairman, and Mrs. Sidney B. McNair, vice chairman; child labor section, Mrs. Frances Dwyer, of Atlanta, chairman; Teen-Age Center section, Ed Davidson, of Columbus, chairman, and E. K. Van Winkle, of Atlanta, vice chairman; junior citizenship section, Morgan Blake, of Atlanta, chairman, and George M. Phillips, of Atlanta, vice chairman; parents and community co-operation, Miss Lillian Lee, of Atlanta, chairman; publicity, Louie Morris, of Hartwell, chairman.

William D. Ellis, of Atlanta, becomes the permanent chairman of the council, replacing Dr. Harmon Caldwell, of the University of Georgia, who served on a temporary basis. Mrs. Ralph Butler, of Dallas, is the new vice chairman. Lon Sullivan remains as director of the council.

SARGE SAW IT IN CONSTITUTION

MACON, Ga., Aug. 24.—(INS)—A 38-year-old Robins Field master sergeant couldn't wait for War Department directives concerning the release of men over 38 from the Army to reach his base headquarters.

M. Sgt. Roland H. Harm filed his request for discharge within a few hours after reading a newspaper article announcing the new release policy.

Since everything in the Army must go through channels and must include quoted reference of authorization, Sgt. Harm quoted his authority like this:

"Column 1, last item, page 1, newspaper, The Atlanta Constitution, Vol. LXXVIII, No. 62, dated 16 Aug., 1945."

Sentry's Shot Kills Musician

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—(AP)—An American sentry's bullet killed Leo Borchard, 55-year-old conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra, just before midnight last night when his automobile failed to stop at the command of soldiers at an outpost.

Borchard was struck in the head by one bullet. Another man and a woman in the car escaped injury.

Three soldiers on duty waved flashlights and shouted for the car to stop, but it went on. Sgt. Darrell R. Odell, Littlefield, Texas, and Pfc. John D. Jones, Dodson, La., opened fire, an official announcement said.

MacARTHUR

Tokyo were reported all clearing out today.

MacArthur also told the Japanese to get communications ready at once and to be prepared to hand over broadcasting stations, telephones and cables when needed.

The first occupation party to touch down on Japan's long-inviolate soil will be the small force of experts which tomorrow will arrive at Atsugi airfield, 18 miles from the imperial palace in the heart of Tokyo and about the same distance from imperial headquarters.

There two days hence members of the imperial general staff will turn out to meet MacArthur and his heavily armed forces and get further orders.

AIRFIELD MIRED UP

With the help of Japanese labor, the experts will get the cramped runways of Atsugi ready for the swarm of transports and bombers which will begin shuttling troops into Japan with MacArthur's arrival.

Tokyo said the airfield was a muddy mess after the typhoon, which howled over Tokyo area Wednesday. It wrecked 291 homes, damaged 780 others, flooded 3,336 more and disrupted railway service as well as communications.

Tokyo advised MacArthur that his preoccupation orders were being obeyed, and that all ship movements had ceased.

MIKADO'S ORDERS

It also announced that Emperor Hirohito had ordered immediate cessation of all hostilities "where Japanese forces are in direct contact with the Allied Armies" as in Manchuria, northern Korea, in Sakhalin island and the Kuriles, all north of the homeland.

The Japanese said disarming was "on the whole complete" in most of this area, but that their forces still were armed and forced to fight in self-defense in parts of China, where they claimed disorders were spreading.

All hostilities ceased in Japan proper, one message said, and another reported the government was taking "measures for supplying lodging, food and transport facilities for Allied occupation forces."

Japanese soldiers have begun to yield in Burma even before the arrival of surrender envoys from Saigoh, but there was still no sign that the Japanese garrison in Singapore was ready to give up that formidable island fortress.

REDS ACCUSED

But in a rash of messages, the Japanese accused the Russians of all sorts of violations of surrender arrangements, chief of which was an alleged plan for a private airborne landing on Hokkaido.

The Russians disclosed that their forces now stand but 30 miles by water from Hokkaido with the occupation of the Japanese half of Sakhalin island to the north.

Tokyo also charged the Russians with:

Attacking north of Kalgan, administrative capital of Inner Mongolia northwest of Peiping, despite Japanese orders shutting down hostilities in that area.

Sinking four Japanese ships around Kokkaido in submarine attacks and with sinking a refugee ship en route to Hokkaido.

The "massacre" of 10 of 13 men at Maoka on Sakhalin, where they were shot down despite a white flag showing they were on a peace mission, and with the machine-gunning of civilians on the island.

DeKalb Jury Recommends County Buyer

An executive, whose principal duties will be purchasing for the county, will be appointed in the office of Scott Candler, DeKalb county commissioner, if recommendations of the June term grand jury are carried out.

The jury, of which Clyde Shephard is foreman, returned their presentments yesterday after an extensive investigation of county affairs.

For the past several days the jurors have been in session and have been going over the business transacted by the commissioner's office.

The jury also recommended that the DeKalb police force be increased from 15 to 20 members, and that the basic salary of policemen be $200 per month. At present the basic salary is $180.

Another recommendation of the grand jury was that a business agent for the board of education be appointed, thus permitting Henry E. Nelson, the superintendent of schools, to devote all of his time to educational matters, while the business agent handle the school's financial affairs.

In the county commission office D. Gorham Jackson is employed as clerk to the commissioner. Heretofore, all purchases for the county have been handled directly by the commissioner.

If the jury's recommendations are carried out, courthouse attaches were of the opinion the job will be offered to Jack Johnson, the commissioner of public safety. Courthouse observers were of the opinion that the two jobs could be combined.

OFFICERS CHOSEN BUT NOT SEATED

The ancient martyr who found himself all dressed up with no place to go, could have extended sincere sympathy to the newly elected officers of the Bomber Square club composed of Masons employed at the Bell Bomber plant.

Friday night had been set aside for their installation at Lakemoore, but funds were found to be too thin to spread over such an impressive ritual. A casualty of the Jap surrender, the Bomber Square club voted to quit on the square.

The new officers, who would have been installed are J. H. Delaney, president; Parker Lowell, vice president; Roy S. Tippin, secretary, and Blake Gurley, treasurer. J. B. (Jimmy) Robinson is the retiring president, while another Atlantan, Frank Holt, was the club's first presiding officer.

THOUGHTS that HEAL
and
PREVENT DISEASE

THE GROWING recognition among physicians and others of the value of thought in the treatment of disease, Christian Science shows to be a development of much significance and promise.

It is a step toward the universal adoption of a healing practice like that of the Founder of Christianity. For, as Christian Science shows unmistakably, a scientific method of thought was responsible for the superb healing work of Jesus. The same method, fully explained in this Science, accounts for its own remarkable cures today.

What often remains as a problem in medical practice after it has been seen that improvement in thought can improve the body, is the apparent impossibility of improving thought. This problem is solved by Christian Science, which discloses and proves that the kinds of thoughts which overcome and prevent disease are really natural for everyone.

The complete explanation of Christian Science and its method of healing and preventing disease is given in SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

A Memorial to Roosevelt

There was an appropriately simple ceremony at Warm Springs' Little White House when the new Roosevelt memorial stamp was placed on sale yesterday.

Postmaster General Hannegan, Gov. Arnall and Roosevelt's former law partner, Basil O'Connor, who is chairman of the board of trustees of the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation, were on hand to pay tribute to the fallen leader on the occasion of the issuance of the stamp commemorating his great public service and the affection in which his memory is held.

The stamp, whereon are pictured Mr. Roosevelt and the Little White House he loved so well, will serve as a constant reminder of our late President and all he stood for. But, in all candor, all such memorials are, in the final analysis, superfluous.

For Roosevelt left his own memorial in the peace which was secured so largely through his vision and efforts.

As Mr. O'Connor said on yesterday, "The victory for which he fought and lived —for which, in the final analysis, he gave his life—has now been won."

That victory is his memorial.

Because of his part in it, he will stand forever enshrined in the memories of free people everywhere.

Peace is the most appropriate monument to Roosevelt.

Let us strive to make it a lasting one.

Europe Faces Crucial Winter

According to former New York Governor Lehman, now head of UNRRA, the liberated countries of Europe face a winter which will "strain the political and economic structure so severely that incalculable harm may be done to all our hopes for a permanent and peaceful settlement in European affairs."

Lehman states, unequivocally, that the European harvest will not meet the minimum subsistence requirements, a condition aggravated by disrupted transportation in many areas. Without "a continuing and expanding flow of supplies of all kinds" from UNRRA, says Lehman, many of these tragic victims of German ambition cannot hope to survive the winter.

He does not blame the governments of the liberated countries. They, he says, are doing their best to restore their own production. Nevertheless, reports do indicate considerable difference in public attitude between different countries. Some are working hard, others seem to be waiting, idle, for expected handouts from other countries—which means, the United States.

This country, and others in position so to do, will undoubtedly extend all proper help to the stricken populations. In the final analysis, however, there is only one road by which war-ravaged Europe can win its way back to a sufficiency of food, clothing, shelter and the other essentials of life.

That road is hard work.

Pearl Harbor? Paid in Full

It was the Japanese navy which attacked Pearl Harbor, by sea and air, while Japanese emissaries were talking peace in Washington. We have known, for long, how tragic a loss was sustained by our own naval units at that time. Now the war is over, we shall learn the exact total of that loss. We do know, now, that whatever it was, the Japanese navy has paid for its treachery in full.

On Dec. 7, 1941, Japan had 381 combat ships in her fighting fleets. Today she has only 57 remaining afloat and of these only a handful of destroyers and submarines are fit for anything but the junk pile. Furthermore, of a prewar merchant fleet of more than 7,000,000 tons, approximately 1,000,000 tons is all remaining, even including every little coastwise vessel.

Rear Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, who attended the Manila surrender meetings as chief of staff for Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, credits the Japanese surrender to the destruction of her fleet, her merchant marine and the disruption of her communications, by our combined air and sea attacks. He believes this, more than the atomic bomb, forced Tokyo to capitulate. Whatever the cause, the surrender of a nation while the larger part of its army was intact, is something new in the history of warfare.

Of the 57 combat ships counted as the remnant of the Jap navy, there is one battleship, crewless and heavily damaged. Out of nine heavy aircraft carriers, two remain, unusable and abandoned by their crews. Two light carriers out of eight are in the same condition. Of five escort carriers, none remain afloat. Of 19 heavy cruisers, two of these lie abandoned and worthless at Singapore. Of 24 light cruisers, all are sunk. Of 165 destroyers, only 26, and four of those heavily damaged, are left. Of 140 submarines, only 22, and six of these are German.

Never has a sea power been so completely destroyed. Never has a once-proud navy been so humbled.

Pearl Harbor? "The mills of the gods grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small."

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters from its readers. They must be signed, should not exceed 300 words.

In Defense

Editor Constitution: The recent letter from one Mr. M. L. Krugman which you published as an "answer" to Westbrook Pegler was a good example of the distorted, prejudiced beliefs that were fostered by Roosevelt and the New Deal. They would stand for no criticism, and anyone who dared to criticize FDR or his policies brought down a flood of invective and hate upon his head. The New Dealers used such words as Fascist, Tory, reactionary, Roosevelt-hater, etc., at will to describe all those who opposed them. Pegler was frequently the target for this abuse because he saw through Roosevelt and the New Deal and did not hesitate to expose the dirt and corruption when he saw it.

Mr. Krugman let the cat out of the bag when he brought up the question of British policy toward liberated Europe. He spoke of the "discredited" British government of Winston Churchill. Therein lies his hatred of Pegler. Pegler dared to commit a sacrilege when he said that Churchill was greater than Roosevelt, which undoubtedly he was. This is the main reason for Mr. Krugman's hatred of Pegler. Is it not a sacrilege to criticize God? The defense rests.

We Need a Plan

Editor Constitution: I am moved to advance this suggestion by one from the Channing Cope column which is a holdover from the depression days when a heartless mayor of Atlanta proposed giving a destitute and distracted family a hoe and a package of garden seed and putting them down on some desolate hillside. To hell with such dodging. We need a plan for human beings. All right, here is my plan. Organize a bank whose business would be to finance a standardized one-family farm. Such a bank would get its blueprints from the agricultural college for soil building, crop rotation, reforestation, stock improvement, etc., etc., and would engage competent contractors who would produce the complete physical setup, then sell it to anybody who would agree to observe the prescribed program through the period of amortization. Observing the program the purchaser would become a scientific farmer and would reproduce his kind. Create a condition of prosperity and the returning soldier will find his own nook.

In the last depression some western railroad president said things would start rolling again if each farm home would just install a bathtub.

Free Ballots

Editor Constitution: This poetic effort was inspired by news that the Honorable Secretary of State, James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, had sent a note to the Bulgarian government, demanding, on behalf of the American people, that all Bulgaria be permitted to exercise a free ballot, "without fear or intimidation."

Dear Mr. Byrnes, we doff our hats, in humblest admiration;
Your latest note has thrown the Reds in utmost consternation.
The echo sounds throughout the world—"Free Ballots for the Bulgar!"
And none would raise a sour note except, of course, the vulgar.

"Free Ballots for the Bulgar!"—
"Without fear, intimidation!"
That clarion call resounds abroad,
to every downtrod nation.
Our noble country leads again, in all that's high and holy;
We mean that every man shall vote — (except the Negro, solely.)

When you have time, dear Mr.
Byrnes, from your high tasks dramatic,
Please raise your voice in your own State, in accents as emphatic.
There's Barnwell, and there's
Bluffton, and there's Ballentine and Bowman,
We love to see the Bulgars vote;
now how about the black man?

Back where you came from, Mr.
Byrnes, in towns like Blaney,
Bamberg,
In Bennettsville; in Boykin; Bath,
Burgess, Bordeaux, Blacksburg;
There's hardly one Bulgarian, but a heap of colored folk.
Shall "Free Ballots for the Bulgars," to the Negro be a joke?

For Japan The View Is One

One of my favorite proverbs happens to be one from Japan—as follows:

"The ways up a mountain be many; from the peak the view is one."

I thought of that on reading the report made to the Japanese Emperor on the damage done by American bombing.

For Japan the ways into the war were many; from the bleak, bare peak of defeat the view is one.

I think, too, we have the answer to the question which so many persons have been asking, "Does Japan know she is defeated?"

The answer is, "She does!"

Japan reports 10,000,000 persons have been killed, wounded and made homeless. These figures were reported in the press dispatches and no doubt you saw them. But to put them down in detail reveals the fact no nation could be unaware of the disaster.

Killed: 260,000, of whom 90,000 were killed by the two atomic bombs.

Wounded: 412,000, of whom 180,000 were atomic bomb victims.
Homeless: 9,200,000.

Houses wrecked: 2,210,000.

Partially damaged: 90,000.

Almost the entire mainland received heavy damage.

These figures reveal that Japan was well on her way to defeat before the atomic bombs fell. Yet those bombs saved perhaps a million American lives.

The Japanese army, of some 5,500,000 men, still was intact and about 4,500,000, perhaps and even five million, were ready to defend the mainland. An attack from the sea would have been bloody and prolonged.

War is not moral, not meant to be, although the objectives often are—and were in this war.

All discussion as to whether we should have used the atomic bomb, insofar as the moral aspect is concerned, is pointless. The purpose of war is to destroy the enemy as quickly as possible, so the objectives may be obtained.

Japan knows there was a war. She knows she was defeated. That bitter fact will be brought home to her many, many times in the years ahead.

Change Great changes for Japan are inevitable. The Japanese themselves do not realize what it means to have a free press, freedom to organize labor; free speech, free assembly.

There were intellectuals who did not believe, of course, the Emperor was infallible. This was a policy imposed and indoctrinated from the cradle by the five ruling families who owned most of the wealth of Japan.

There will be less and less respect for the throne.

There will be, in time, revolution in politics and education.

We know there was an opposition party in Japan. That party will not allow this opportunity to pass. They will have, for a considerable time, at least, the most "face." Their party will alone, of all parties, have "face." They were right. The navy was destroyed. The army surrendered. The great ruling families backed both. Therefore, the ruling families were wrong. The Emperor took their advice. If he was not wrong he at least took the wrong advice.

Today, looking at our fleet, seeing our planes in the sky, reading the record of defeat, Japan knows she lost the war.

And the end is not yet.

For Japan the war was a prologue.

Don't Abandon Thrift Now the War Is Done

There is, it is reported, to be a Victory Loan drive later this year. One more of the big campaigns for the selling of bonds—this time Victory Bonds. You remember, at first, back before Pearl Harbor, they were Defense Bonds. Then War Bonds. Now, Victory Bonds.

Few people remember that, even before the Defense Bonds, there were the same type of government securities on sale through the post offices. Known as Baby Bonds.

It seems to me it would be a wise idea for the government to continue the issuance and sale of Baby Bonds, even after the Victory Bonds are passe and the war has become only a memory. For millions of our people have gotten into the habit of buying these $25 securities—for $18.75—and it would be a mighty good thing, both for the nation and for the individual, if we retained that habit.

Not to the extent that we have bought War Bonds, but sufficiently to provide for all of us a constant nest egg, reserve fund, earning interest and absolutely safe.

Confusing Most older people were brought up under parental and teacher admonitions about the wisdom of saving every possible penny out of income, whether that income was but a pitifully few dollars in wage envelope or whether it was actually in the wealthy category. We were taught it was better, even, to go without a little food now and then than to miss the regular deposit of a few pennies in the savings account.

Then came the days of the early thirties and the rise of unemployment. And, from all sides, we were appealed to to spend, freely, so that there would be greater demand for consumer goods and thus greater opportunities for employment of the workers who made those goods.

It was a startling reversal of the teachings of our lifetime.

Next, came the war and, to prevent inflation, we were all abjured to save every possible nickel, by buying war bonds or war stamps, while the goods were either rationed or just not on the store shelves at all. Thrift again became the watchword, and the best citizen was the one who spent the lowest proportion possible of income and bought the greatest number of war bonds.

Now, with industry fast getting into the job of reconversion, once again the average citizen will be depended upon to buy lots of things, so that there will be lots of jobs for the workers of industry and so forth.

Quite correct, generally speaking. There must be heavy consumption to provide heavy production, plenty of good jobs at good wages. It is important.

But I believe it is equally important that the average person hold individual spending to something below individual income. There is nothing more tragic than an individual load of too heavy debt. There is nothing more conducive to contentment than the sure knowledge that income exceeds outgo and that there is a comfortable reserve fund for emergencies.

Bonds Best Way I think it has been demonstrated that the baby bond scheme is the most effective way of inducing thrift among our people.

So, I hope most of us will be able to keep the bonds we have bought, at least until maturity, as financial anchor to windward. And, at the same time, continue to lay aside a dollar or two or three each pay day for the purchase of more bonds.

Spend the rest, to be sure. Buy all those wonderful new cars and radios and washing machines and refrigerators and so on and so forth. But don't obligate yourself for so many monthly installments there won't be enough left for the necessities of life. Nor for the little, steady increase of your bond holdings.

It would be mighty nice, you know, when the bonds you first bought reach ten-year maturity, to have a steady stream ready for cashing for all your life afterwards.

And the only way to do that is to continue to buy.

There is a happy medium between free spending and thrift. Wisest course is to find that ratio and stick to it.

"Gasoline and shoe rationing will end in a short time but many foods, much needed by European countries, are scheduled to remain on the ration list."—News item.

Some day we hope to take a course in higher mathematics
And get our brain cells strengthened by such mental acrobatics
So we can find the answers to the things which mystify us
And thus prevent the smarter folks from slipping fast ones by us.
For instance, the relationships between opposing nations
Perplex such simple dopes as us who have small educations;
They start off sending formal notes so filled with gentle phrases
You'd think our diplomats were lads who skipped among the daisies
And wore pink ribbons in their hair and were so sweet and tender
You could not tell if they were men or of the other gender.
But then they toughen up a bit as notes fly thick and faster,
And, by and by, we have a war and famine and disaster;
We sink their ships and wreck their farms and into sorrow lead them,
And when they're nearly starved to death we starve ourselves to feed them.
That may make sense to people who have earned a big diploma
But to the great unwashed it has a very bad aroma.
We just can't figure this unless we have good educations . . .
How the winner gets the victory and the loser gets the rations.

ROBERT QUILLEN

Letter To the Redhead

My dear Louise:

Your behavior, your choice of friends and your way of life will depend largely on your opinions. And you have definite opinions on almost all matters of controversy. Yet I doubt if you could tell me where you got any one of your opinions or offer evidence to prove its soundness.

Opinions are the stuff that life is built of, yet they are picked up at random and without care.

A recent American Magazine article asks whether Negroes are equal to whites in natural ability, and then quotes "experts" who give the answer. Being in print, their opinion is impressive, yet it is worth no more than yours. Not one of them has conducted a mass experiment under scientific controls, to discover the truth. Their opinion is a product of their prejudice or emotion.

What is natural ability? How do you measure it? What is equality, and by what standard is it demonstrated?

If one boy is a wizard in math but has no ear for music, while another has great musical talent but can't work arithmetic problems, which is superior in "natural ability"—or are they equal?

All kids differ in apparent ability, as in all other matters. Suppose you form two groups of the same age, and give them the same tests, and one averages much higher than the other. Does that prove it has superior natural ability?

Of course not. Scientists will say that the other group may have been handicapped by poverty, lack of training and a degrading environment.

All right, then; take two kids in the same family, one 12, one 13. They have had the same environment and the same training, yet one passes the tests with a higher grade. Is he superior in natural ability?

Nobody can tell. The kids "take after" different sides of the family. They differ in taste and temperament, and therefore have different friends and interests. There is no way to tell how these differences affected their development.

Maybe not. A chance remark about Jefferson, heard when they were ten, was scarcely noted by one boy, yet it struck a spark in the other's mind and fired an ambition to become a great man. It made him a thinker.

So you see, it is virtually impossible, with our present limited knowledge of the human mind, to tell natural ability from acquired ability, and any "expert" opinion about it is pure guesswork.

Opinions based on guesses are worthless. You aren't educated if what you know is wrong. Base your opinions on knowledge supported by evidence. It is the only way to know you are right.

Love, DAD.

A TEN-GALLONER IS EXCELLENT

(Walton News)

Robert Jay's possession—a 10-gallon per day Holstein cow—should be an inspiration to everyone who is not doing quite so well with members of their dairy herds. Eyes were stretched to their limit Wednesday when our fine young friend, owner of the four or five-hundred-acre dairy farm, told of his treasure. Cows with proper pedigree or cows of a more scrub type, can very often, by the right sort of treatment, be made to fill several pails a day. And happy indeed should be the man or woman who has a cow that can provide nourishment for a good-size family and then have some left over to sell or give away.

JACK TARVER

Even in Defeat Winnie's a Good Name

There inevitably arise, in the lives of Constitution readers, questions which are neither personal enough for Dr. Crane or organic enough for Dr. Brady.

These invariably find their way to Dr. Tarver.

One such, which has vexed me no little of late, comes from one Ellen Garrison, of Cornelia.

"Attlee's election has caused some disturbance in the McDuffie family, which lives at Baldwin, a little town of about 400-plus, about a mile from home," writes Miss Garrison. "Mrs. McDuffie was the first to get everybody disturbed, and as I have become acquainted with the matter, I thought probably that you could give me some advice with which to console her. Her youngest son, who is on his ninth month, has been named Prime Minister Winston Churchill McDuffie, and since Churchill has lost the election (a very humiliating fact for the McDuffies) they are considering very seriously changing the name to Prime Minister Clement Attlee. As I read your column daily and know that you are acquainted with the merits of both Winnie and Clement, I thought probably you would be able to offer some assistance to the dilemma of the parents in this family crisis."

Well, now, Miss Garrison, you've got me. I did know of some Toombs county parents who had children back in the days when red galluses were in vogue who endeavored to solve the problem by later calling them "E. T." But this, of course, was but a subterfuge and the pore, helpless young'uns were always being embarrassed by having their full names on report cards, Sunday school certificates and such.

The moving finger writes and having writ moves on, especially on a baptismal certificate and about all I can suggest is for them to choose a good nickname and hope it sticks.

Next time, however, I trust they will have foresight enough to name their baby after somebody permanent—as Joe Stalin, for instance—and not go running off after every Tom, Dick and Winnie who comes along.

ERNEST K. LINDLEY

We Can't Afford To Be Suckers

The consensus of informed observers is that the Emperor is moving in good faith and with reasonable promptness to bring about the surrender of all Japanese forces. But until the last of them have laid down their arms, the possibility that there will be more fighting cannot be overlooked. Some military hotheads might disobey the imperial decrees. The possibility of disobedience or treachery even on a fairly large scale must be reckoned with.

Therefore, American troops will land in Japan in force, with full military equipment and backed by adequate naval and air power. The Americans will be accompanied by token forces representing the Allies. But it is not planned, at present, to set up zones of occupation comparable to those in Germany. Instead, the occupation of the Japanese home islands will be an American responsibility, with small Allied units attached to the American forces at various points.

Although some of the Japanese broadcasts have been impatient in tone, all the present indications are that the Emperor is trying to put the Japanese people in a frame of mind to carry out the Potsdam terms with every appearance of willingness. The military hot-heads may want to haggle and stall. Individual Japanese may want to resort to passive resistance.

Smart Course But, by far the smarter course for Japan would be to comply promptly and fully with all Allied orders, to suppress the military or at least push them out of sight, and to put on as quickly as possible a democratic and pacifistic front. That is what Germany did after the first World War. It made a favorable impression, especially in the United States and Great Britain. It led to the gradual reduction of reparations, to the withdrawal ahead of schedule of Allied occupation forces and to the acceptance of Germany as a member of the League of Nations.

Recalling the German success, the Japanese may reasonably be expected to emulate it. They may well hope that we will get fed up with China, especially if a civil war develops there, or that relations between the United States and Russia will cool. In either event, they might hope for a more favorable American attitude toward Japan and perhaps the growth of an active American interest in restoring the strength of Japan.

It is to be hoped sincerely that in time there will be a true conversion in Japan. But we may be led to think that the conversion is true and stable before it really is.

The present government of Japan is looked upon here as a "surrender" government: a government selected with a view to obtaining compliance by the Japanese military with the Emperor's surrender decrees. After we get into Japan, it would be reasonable to expect it to give way to a government chosen for its appeal to us—a government with a liberal democratic front. That would not be undesirable from our viewpoint—provided we are not lulled into a sense of false security.

Our hasty demobilization on the home front, before the formal surrender had been signed and before Allied troops were firmly established in Japan, was exactly the sort of action which might be expected to encourage Japanese hopes. The clamor of some members of congress both to stop the draft and rush home the men now in uniform should be still more encouraging to them. We will not be played for suckers in Japan if we keep awake and steadfast. But we may play ourselves for suckers.

Timely Choice Seems the nation's sports experts knew what they were doing when they named Babe Didrikson the No. 1 woman athlete of all time in a recent poll.

Didrikson, playing with borrowed clubs, showed the stuff of which champions are made, twice in succession in the Women's Western Amateur being played in Chicago.

Twice, in order to survive, Didrikson had to stage a stirring comeback and it took two 20-hole rounds to finally triumph.

Only the real competitors make the grade under such conditions in tournament play.

The Babe, who is married to George Zaharias, the ex-wrestler, was a 7-to-1 choice over Helen Wills, her nearest competitor, in the re-recent poll.

Sonja Heinie, the beauteous ice skater, was slightly in back of Helen Wills in the voting.

The late Suzanne Lenglen and Gertrude Ederle were the other two in the top five.

Recognition was extended to Patty Berg, Stella Walsh, Eleanor Holm, Ann Curtis and Glenna Collett Vare.

Didrickson's versatility and her unusual performances against male competitors were points that figured heavily in the voting.

When the Babe made her pro debut with Gene Sarazen, the Little Sardine remarked: "She'll make any fellow's hands sore trying to keep ahead of her drives. She goes at it like she wants to slam the ball off the globe. All I can do about it is to go along until she gets one of her very best, then let out and pass her, just to remind her whom she's playing against."

Major Changes Branch Rickey claims some territorial changes in the major leagues are inevitable. And it would seem that there is some logic in a recent observation that one of the St. Louis clubs must be removed. Don Barnes' act in selling his stock indicates that it will be the Browns. The Cardinals, in most years, do the most business at the gate.

Barnes would like to have a major league club at Los Angeles. He was talking about this prior to Pearl Harbor.

There is such a thing in baseball as territorial rights and that would have to be amended before any changes could be made. But Rickey, if anyone, can bring it about. The Mahatma and his syndicate recently bought a gold mine (the Brooklyn Dodgers) for three-quarters of a million dollars.

Reason why St. Louis can't properly support two major league teams is that the drawing power is only about 600,000. It's like asking New Orleans to support two Southern League teams.

The Coast League has been clamoring for major league representation for some time. A city like Los Angeles could support big league baseball handsomely.

There even has been talk of a third major league, and that would be the Coast League. The territory is large enough.

Pants Rowland, the old Cub scout, is president of the Coast League and he has big league ideas.

He is known to favor the idea of the Coast League going from an AA to major league classification.

It is not likely Rowland would favor a major league franchise in Los Angeles, as it would be too much of a counter-attraction for the Coast League team already there.

But definitely there are some big changes coming in baseball.

Maritime Football Up at King's Point, N. Y., the U. S. Merchant Marine is getting ready to have a big year in football. Earl Brown, former Notre Dame star, is head coach. Brown will be assisted by Ken Strong, the former New York University All-America. Strong will continue to play with the New York Giants on Sundays.

Two Atlanta boys, now on sea duty, are expected to reach King's Point during the football season. They are Jim Castleberry and Jack Carver.

A representative schedule, including several college games, is being arranged.

Louise Suggs Loses In Semifinals, 2-1

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, of Los Angeles, blasted three-under-par golf to spill Defending Champion Dorothy Germain, of Philadelphia, 5 and 3, in the semi-finals of the Women's Western Amateur golf meet at Knollwood Country Club today.

The other finalist was Phyllis Otto, of Atlantic, Iowa, 1944 runner-up, who rallied to defeat Medalist Louise Suggs, of Atlanta, Ga., 2 and 1.

Mrs. Zaharias fired a blistering two-under-par 36 to take a two-hole lead over Miss Germain at the turn of their semi-final match.

Medalist Suggs paced Miss Otto 1 up at the halfway mark.

Although Miss Otto fired a one-over-par 39, a stroke better than Miss Suggs, the Iowa miss never held the lead on the first nine. Miss Suggs took a one-hole lead on the third green as she sank a 12-footer for a birdie three.

Miss Otto won the fourth with a par three, and after Miss Suggs took the fifth despite a bogey five, the Iowa miss again squared the match on the sixth with a birdie four. Miss Suggs' second birdie of the first nine, a four as she sank a 14-footer on the eighth green, gave her a 1-up lead at the turn.

Swimmers Set 16 New Marks

By RUSSELL MUSGRAVE.

The third annual city outdoor swimming championship races were held at the Progressive Club pool on Techwood Drive Friday afternoon with 16 new records being hung up for next year's midget, junior and senior boys and girls to shoot at.

Perhaps, the best race of the meet was the 50-yd. junior boys' breaststroke that 14-year-old Tommy McDonough, Atlanta Swimming Association star, won in the sensational time of 32 and 4-10th seconds, which compares favorably with college varsity time. A minute later, Tommy entered the senior boys' 100-yd. breaststroke event and finished a nose behind Johnny Hiles, of Boys' High.

Barbara Kilgore, ASA starlet, set a new 1:06.7 record in the senior girls' 100-yd. freestyle event that is mighty close to the National record. Barbara also finished first in the senior girls' 50-yd. freestyle race.

John Hiles, of Boys' High, finished first in the senior boys' 100-yard freestyle, 100-yard backstroke and 100-yard breaststroke.

Lee Heist (ASA) was the only other winner of more than one first place, coming in first in the senior boys' 50-yd. freestyle and the 220-yd. freestyle and finishing a close second to Hiles in the 100-yd. freestyle.

Other new city record holders are Betty Mackay, Marquin Conklin, Dent Richards, Laura Hailey, Audrey Buck, and Doris Musgrave in the girls' divisions. Stocky Broome, Tommy McDonough, Van Leach, Bob Browne, and Gordon Smith are the new boys' division record holders.

The Atlanta Swimming Association with 180 points won team honors, with Atlanta Athletic Club, Boys' High, Piedmont Driving Club, Avondale Estates, Joe Brown and the Progressive Club, finishing in that order.

Osborne, Stratton To Play for Title

Phil Osborne and Jack Stratton won their way to the finals of the championship bracket in the annual junior tournament being held at the Capital City Country Club and will vie for the title in an 18-hole match today.

Osborne defeated Fil Cooper, 1 up, and Stratton eliminated Jack Garner by the same margin.

In the first flight, Hugh Nunnally won over Pete Garlington, 7 and 5, and Harry Tindall defeated George Sherrill, 3-1. They will also play 18 holes today.

Bears Beat Crackers In 2d, 10-7

By CHARLIE ROBERTS
Constitution Staff Writer.

HARTWELL FIELD, MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 24—Clay Hopper found a pitcher who could get somebody out just an inning before Ki Ki Cuyler did tonight, and as a result the Mobile Bears evened the series with the Atlanta Crackers by out-walloping the league leaders, 10 to 7, in the second game of the five-game set here.

String-bean Buck Tanner, a right hander, was the chunker who had the Crackers' number in time to turn the tide in favor of the Bears in the "anything-goes" slugfest. Tanner silenced Cracker bats with just one hit in the three and one-third innings of relief flinging he began after two men were away in the sixth after Abe White had taken a shellacking.

Manager Cuyler called on Lefty LeGrant Scott, who has been managing the Bell Bomber plant team this year, to put the quietus on the Bear sluggers with one away in the seventh, but Rellief Hurler Chuck Kearney already had been touched for three seventh-inning tallies, and Scott's runless hurling thereafter went for naught. Marshall Scott started and had been ineffective, although he might have fared better had not three gruesome fielding miscues by Connie Creeden in right field helped the Bears to help themselves to a flock of early game tallies. Creeden redeemed himself, however, by banging a three-run double in the sixth to tie the score at 7-7.

Lew Carpenter, who planed in today, will be seeking his 21st victory of the year for the Crackers tomorrow night when the third game of the series will be played. Hopper said either "Rooster" Patterson or Fred Wells would fling for Mobile.

Chattanooga lost to New Orleans, 8-7, in Peltown tonight to leave the Crackers leading the league by six and one-half games.

The Crackers scored a run without a hit in the first inning. After Cimoncendia flied out, Right Fielder Ted Mueller dropped Gearhart's fly along the foul line for a three-base error. Creeden was hit by a pitched ball and Cieslak skied to Kosman in center and Gearheart loped home after the catch.

Kosman's triple, singles by Mueller and Barney White, an intentional walk to Tucker, Harry Chozen's two-run single which took a bad hop over Cieslak's head and a groundout by Benning netted the Bears four runs in their half of the first frame.

Hower led off the Cracker half of the second with a bingle to right and Hamner followed with a ditto to left. Ordenana tripled over Kosman's head in center to score both runners.

After two were out in Mobile's half of the second, Mueller was hit by a pitched ball, went to third as Scott threw the ball away trying to catch him off first and scored as Douglas pumped a single to left. Mobile led, 5-3.

Amateurish outfield play by the Crackers gave the Bears two more and a 7-5 lead in the last of the fifth. Douglas opened with a single to center, Creeden badly misjudged an ordinary fly and Barney White got a double out of it, with Douglas going to third. Douglas scored and White went to third after Garmendia hauled in Tucker's fly against the fence. Chozen was intentionally walked. Benning skied to right center and Creeden and Gearhart played Alphonso-Gaston momentarily and then Creeden dropped the ball to allow White to score.

The Crackers tied it with a four-run rally in the sixth. For the second time in the game Hower, Hamner and Ordenana opened an inning with consecutive hits and the bases were loaded. Fulenwider batted for Scott and Cpl. Shuba and Hower scored after the catch. Garmendia forced Hamner at third. White to Tucker, but Gearhart beat out a bunt to load the bases. Creeden redeemed himself by slapping a 3-2 pitch for a three-run double down the right field line and Buck Tanner replaced Abe White on the mound for Mobile. Cieslak rolled out, short to first.

The Bears went back in front in the seventh when they routed Chuck Kearney, who had replaced Marshall Scott on the mound for Atlanta after Fulenwider pinch-hit for the Cracker lefty in the first of the sixth. Tucker opened with a walk. Chozen singled to left and Benning had a hit when Ordenana failed to throw his dribbler anywhere after fielding it. The bases were loaded and Shuba blistered the right field foul line with a drive that became a ground rule double when it bounced over the fence. Tucker and Chozen scored and Benning went to third, from where he scored after Garmendia handled Tanner's fly to left. Legrant Scott relieved Kearney on the hill for the Crackers and forced Pinch-hitter Mal Stevens, league-leading home run hitter, to roll out to Reid unassisted and struck out Mueller.

Cards Win, 1-0, To Cut Cub Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Pennant possibilities rode on almost every pitch today as St. Louis and Chicago opened an important three-game series, and it wasn't pitching laxness, but a "break" of the game that gave the Cardinals a 1-0 victory.

Hank Borowy, recently waived out of the American League and acquired from the New York Yankees by the Cubs, and Harry Brecheen hooked up in one of the tightest pitching duels of the season here and kept a crowd that totaled 44,732, including 37,227 paid admissions, almost breathless.

Feller hurled hitless ball for the last six and two-thirds innings as he limited the Tigers to four bingles to hand Detroit Ace Hal Newhouser his eighth defeat against 20 victories.

5,000 See Welch Beat Red Roberts

Herb Welch, world's junior heavyweight wrestling champion, tossed Red Roberts in 22 minutes with a double leg lock to retain his championship belt last night at the City Auditorium before a record crowd of better than 5,000.

The champ and Roberts showed the fans plenty of speed and rugged action in this encounter. Welch, who hails from Oklahoma, has held the title since September 3, 1942.

The semiwindup team tag match, one of the most thrilling bouts of the program, was captured by the team of Barto Hill and Dan O'Connor over Dick Lever and Jack Hader. Hill tossed Lever with his front octopus clamp for the first fall in 32 minutes and the second fall ended in a draw when the remainder of the one-hour time limit ran out on the competitors.

The always interesting feminine matches found Violet Valentine and Mae Young, the Oklahoma Bombshell, emerging with the winner's share of the purse. Valentine downed Nell Stewart and Mae Young tossed Evelyn Wall.

The crowd was so large that hundreds had to stand in the rear of the balcony and behind the dress circle rail. There were no seats available at the ringside after the opening match. Most of the veteran fans considered the program one of the best of the season.

Nelson Maintains Blistering Pace

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 24—(UP)—Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., maintained his blistering pace in the second round of the $10,000 Supreme Knoxville Open today, firing a three-under-par 69 in heavy rain to take a four-stroke lead.

Nelson's closest rival was Amateur Fred Haas, New Orleans, who won the Memphis Open last week. Haas added an even-par 72 to his 68 yesterday for a 140 total, four strokes back of golf's biggest money winner, who had a 67 yesterday for a total of 136.

Little Ben Hogan, golf's mighty mite, who is making his first tournament appearance since being discharged from the Army, soared to a 76 today after a hot 68 yesterday. Hogan could not make his putts drop and he missed at least four three-footers.

Heavy rain, which once made it necessary for play to be called off temporarily, hampered almost everyone's game. But not that of Nelson. Johnny Bulla, of Atlanta, had a 79 today for a 152 total.

Jones and Elders Battle 15 Innings Without Score

Rain halted play in the semi-finals of the state softball tournament last night at Marietta city softball field, but not until the top seeded Bell Bombers and unranked Nick's Cafe, of Rome, had battled to the 15th inning without a score.

This contest, which was expected to be one of the best of the entire week's play turned out to be jost that. Leon Jones, pitching for the Bombers, and veteran Farris Elders, long one of the finest hurlers in north Georgia, matched pitch for pitch throughout 15 innings of play, and if the rain had not interrupted play at this point, it is possible that the two clubs would have established an all-time state tourney record for innings played in a single game.

The semifinal program will be played tonight, weather permitting. In the first game the Bombers and Nick's Cafe again will clash with Elders slders slated to again to the rubber with either Jones, Homer Carter or Dixie Walker as his opponent. This contest will start at 7:30 p. m. Macon Hawks and Columbus Manufacturing Company, Earl Varchminn's team, will clash in the other tilt at 9 p. m.

Finals will be contested Monday night with the girls' game, featuring Macon YWCA and Sports Arena Blues leading off the card at 7 p. m.

STOCK SALES

NEW YORK, Aug. 24—(AP)—Motors and rubbers led the stock market on a relatively strong advance today and put the industrial average at its highest level in more than eight years.

The upswing came after a forenoon of considerable irregularity inspired by lightening accounts for another lengthy holiday and selling based on the idea the recent comeback may have gone too far in view of questions regarding price ceilings and taxes.

Gas Company To Change Ownership

A contract for the sale of the Atlanta Gas Light Company for $11,000,000 to the Southern Natural Gas Company of Birmingham has been announced by the Consolidated Electric and Gas Company in New York. The sale is subject to approval of regulatory agencies and the funds will be used to retire collateral trust 6 per cent bonds.

No changes in management, personnel or physical properties are anticipated if the sale is carried out, according to officials of the Atlanta Gas Light Company. In addition to the $11,000,000, earnings of the Atlanta company since April 1 will go into the sale price.

The Southern Natural Gas Company, operating from its Birmingham headquarters, is a Delaware corporation. It succeeded the Southern Natural Gas Corporation and controls the Birmingham Gas Company, Southern Production Company, Inc., Alabama Gas Company, Alabama Natural Gas Corporation and Apex Gas Corporation.

Operating in the industrial areas of central Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and northern Louisiana, the Southern Natural Gas Company is controlled by the Federal Water and Gas Corporation.

Originally a part of the Georgia Power Company, the Atlanta Gas Light Company is the city's oldest corporation and the second oldest in the state. H. Carl Wolf, president, recently accepted the managing directorship of the American Gas Association. Rock G. Taber, operating vice president, will take over executive management after Oct. 1, when Wolf will leave for New York.

Twenty-five Georgia communities are served by the company. They are Atlanta, Augusta, Athens, Avondale, Barnesville, Brunswick, Calhoun, Carrollton, Cedartown, College Park, East Point, Hapeville, Decatur, Forsyth, Griffin, Macon, Marietta, Milledgeville, Newnan, Rockmart, Rome, Smyrna, Thomaston, Valdosta and Waycross.

FAST TALKER IS INDICTED

A glib tongue and fast feet kept J. B. Anderson at liberty for a while, but yesterday he was indicted by the Fulton county grand jury on a charge of robbery.

According to witnesses who appeared before the grand jury, Anderson, running down Edgewood avenue, was stopped by City Policeman C. G. Hughes, who asked what had happened.

Anderson replied a Negro man had attempted to rob him. After a few minutes, the policeman released Anderson, since no one followed him. When Anderson got out of sight, a Negro man, Jimmie Hayges, of an Edgewood avenue address, and two white witnesses reported to Policeman Hughes that Anderson had robbed the Negro of $10 in cash and a wrist watch.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS

March 21-April 19 (ARIES)—Through 6:11 p. m. is filled with harmonious vibrations for dealings with people in groups, for affairs around the home, for pleasures and social events. After 6:11 p. m. use care around liquids and be cautious in health matters.

April 20-May 20 (TAURUS)—The day as a whole favors pleasant associations, equitable dealings and social contacts, but previous to 11:08 p. m. carries warnings to use caution in travel, hasty speech and impetuous action.

May 21-June 20 (GEMINI)—If you do not allow yourself to become irritable and do not buck what fate deals you, today should be especially favorable for carrying out well laid plans. The period betwen 11:30 a. m. and 3:15 p. m. favors carrying out plans with great satisfaction.

June 21-July 22 (CANCER)—Slight disagreements may take on large proportions previous to 11:35 a. m. Afterwards you should have a feeling of resourcefulness and the period should be filled with greater harmony of feeling, so you will enjoy greater pleasures and social life will have a stronger appeal.

July 23-Aug. 22 (LEO)—The combined influences today bring matters involving the feelings and emotions to the front and delay any anxiety in these matters. The day does not favor new beginnings or making changes in plans.

Aug. 23-Sept. 22 (VIRGO)—Today until 7:56 p. m. you should go ahead with courage and confidence, when you can advance your position, but don't waste time in frivolities. After 7:56 p. m. favors social interests.

Sept. 23-Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—The combined influences operating throughout the entire day make this a very negative day. The affairs you are attempting will seem to get nowhere. Changes, especially important changes, are not favored and more care than usual should be given to diet.

Oct. 23-Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)—You are likely to be undecided and uncertain during the entire day and with such a mental outlook, this is not considered a favorable time for undertaking risks, or for proceeding with confidence in any new beginnings.

Nov. 22-Dec. 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—Crown your important affairs before 12:22 p. m., as the best vibrations of the day operate at this time. The afternoon and evening hours suggest that you go carefully and think twice before putting affairs into action. Avoid rashness and quarrels at home or with business associates.

Dec. 22-Jan. 19 (CAPRICORN)—More success will be attained today by sticking to routine. Be deliberate in what you do and do not undertake affairs impulsively. The best aspects of the day operate previous to 12 noon.

Jan. 20-Feb. 18 (AQUARIUS)—Before 1:35 p. m. think carefully before you enter into new obligations. This is not an auspicious time for transactions around lands, dealings with women, matters of art, and domestic affairs.

Feb. 19-March 20 (PISCES)—Instead of others working with you today, the tendency is likely to be that others will take the opposite viewpoint from your own. Discussions may easily arise. Unimportant work or routine matters will bring greater satisfaction. Be especially careful in writings, travel and property interests.
